Michael L. Einterz

Attorney & Partner

Einterz & Einterz

Since 1987, Mike has built a solid reputation in a wide range of practice areas including real estate, construction law, litigation and business. Known for his accessibility and responsiveness to his clients, Mike brings a practical, down-to-earth approach to the practice of law.

“My role as an attorney is to solve problems, and not every problem needs to be litigated. Great outcomes are produced out of a mix of creativity, confidence and passion.”

Mike’s trial background, negotiation strengths and candid style of advocacy form the foundation on which he builds any case. But his relationship with clients emanates from a clear understanding that the practice of law is a service industry.

“The key is to always remember you are serving a client. Provide all the information the client needs, give sound advice, and then do what must be done to best serve the interests of that client,” he says.

Mike holds an AB with majors in Chemistry and Philosophy from Wabash College and a Doctor of Jurisprudence from Indiana University School of Law in Indianapolis. After practicing in a large firm for 7 years, Mike established Einterz and Einterz in 1994.

Mike is a member of the Indiana State Bar Association, and the Indianapolis Bar Association. He is admitted to practice in the U.S. District Court, Southern District of Indiana, U.S. District Court, Northern District of Indiana, U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Southern District of Indiana, U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Northern District of Indiana, Indiana Court of appeals, Supreme Court of Indiana, the Federal Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Outside his law practice, Mike’s competitive nature manifests itself in the form of weightlifting with his sons and an occasional round of golf. He is active in an array of other sports and activities with his family. Mike and his wife, Sara, have 8 children and 17 grandchildren. He is a member of St. Alphonsus Liguori Catholic Church in Zionsville, and President of the Board of Directors for The Caring Center of Boone County.
