

Jennifer Ware

Indiana Department of Natural Resources

Jennifer Ware earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ball State University in Geography with a concentration in Meteorology. After graduation, she worked as a meteorologist in Norman, Oklahoma forecasting weather for large container ships worldwide. Jennifer returned to Indiana in 2007 and began working for the DNR, Division of Water. Over the last 17 years, she has served in several roles but currently resides as the Assistant Director. In her free time, Jennifer enjoys being outdoors with her husband and two kids.

