Management and Control

Most beaver harvest is in response to abundant beaver populations and attempts by landowners to remove nuisance beavers during the legal season. At present, the owner or tenant of any property may take beaver discovered damaging property without a permit during the closed season. If you do not want to trap the beaver yourself, contact a licensed nuisance wild animal control operator.

A beaver dam is not where a beaver lives. It is simply a mass of woody debris that may be able to be removed without a permit from the DNR, depending on its location and the equipment to be used. Get an outline of permit requirements. Be sure to obtain permission from the property owner(s) if the dam is on property other than your own. Beaver lodges, which are beaver homes, may only be removed with a nuisance wild animal control permit from the DNR.
